“ I had the pleasure to get to know Cy as family. He was a sweet , funny and great heart man. I loved to asked him about the weather and the temperature.

He planted the best tomatoes and knew how to be a wonderful husband, a good dad and a honest man.

What a great soul.

I will never forget you.

Thank you for all your love and care.

“ Cy and I spent a little time together...In common was my friend and his son, Phillip. Any time I saw Cy, he was always friendly, and enjoyed talking. I remember his son telling me Wal-Mart was one of his favorite places, and much later in life I could see why.

Another memory I have is of a trip to his home in Antelope Valley...I was very young (early 20's) I tried to turn on the music in my van as we drove, and Cy said to turn it down (please), as he would rather just talk...This man I knew was very warm, very intelligent, and very caring. I know he will be missed by many.
