“ I had the privilege of working with Derek at Walgreen's. Although I did not work directly with him frequently, we would see each other in passing. The obituary written did not come near enough to the man that he was. He was the soul of joy, empathy, kindness, gratitude, comradery and many others too numerous to describe. We planned on going to breakfast (something that he loved to do) when I got back from vacation. That will have to wait. Derrick, reserve a table for us in that heavenly breakfast joint. I'll see you when I get there. Rest in peace my friend and brother.
