“ Dylan was the first friend I made when I moved to Blawnox, and over the years became like a brother. Our mothers are best friends, and he lived with my mom for awhile, so naturally we spent a lot of time together. I was there through his ups and downs, and now wish I was there more through his downs for him. But now I know he is at peace and without struggle. If you knew Dylan, you know he was one of a kind and had one of the biggest hearts. The last thing he ever said to me was “I love ya sis”, so, I love you too. Rest easy dear. ❤️🙏

“ Dylan was like a son to me. He resided with me for a while. We would sit in the kitchen and talk for hours and cook together and of course drink beer 😊. Our favorite thing to do was taking my dogs down to the river to swim and listen to country music on a warm summer night. ❤️. I Love You and Will miss our Happy Times Together. My Heart breaks for all of the family and friends. Sincere Condolences. Renee Devine
