“ My deepest condolences to John's family and friends. Since we met on my first day at the library, in the shelving department, John and I got along really well. We both shared the love of heavy metal and I was more than versed in his era. I will remember John as a fantastic storyteller, someone who seemed to know so much about everything. I will miss him dearly, and treasure the records he gave me during our friendship.

“ I'm so sorry for your loss - John was one of the Library's unsung heroes, and every conversation I had with him was an education in life, the universe, and everything. RIP, friend, and may you be at peace.

“ So sorry for your loss and ours at the Carnegie Library. John always had a spring in his step and a lilt in his voice. He will be remembered for his kind spirit, dry wit, and gorgeous locks (as depicted in his portrait.) John - you will be missed!

“ When I started at the Library, John and I worked together moving dusty books in less than desirable conditions. Through our misery, we became good friends. He was always laughing, joking, and smiling and a great listener when I had issues to resolve. He was also charismatic and left a good impression on everyone that he met; a truly great guy. I'll never forget his voice and his laugh. RIP my friend.

“ John was a world class co-worker. He'd have me cracking up to the cusp of what was appropriate for a professional setting. He helped shape my Pittsburgh experience into years that I am often nostalgic after.

“ I'm proud to say that I was the first Librarian to hire John in the Music & Art Department of Carnegie Library many years ago. His gentle spirit and dependable work ethic brought distinction to the workplace.

“ He possessed a wry wit and a soft-spoken nature that belied his considerable spirit. A good guy to work beside during a long day toiling in the stacks.

“ I am very sorry to hear about the passing of John. I went to school with John and worked with him at the Carnegie Library. He was a great guy who never seemed to a mean word for anyone.
