“ Your spouse, your friends, your co-workers - They all know you after you've begun to form yourself. But your siblings know you when you haven't yet become, when you were a small child, and through all that happens as you change throughout your life.

She was a warrior fighting pancreatic cancer for the past two years. I drove to Pittsburgh a week before her passing. Julie said "we can all hope and pray for a miracle - I wish I had 10 more years, but it is what it is." She'd been dreaming about our mother, which is nice. Her husband Jules placed a bird feeder a foot or so outside the window so she could watch the birds. A Mountain Bluebird started showing up (Eastern bluebirds are blue with a reddish belly, but mountain bluebirds are all blue). She loved animals and people. She was one of the most giving, generous, empathetic people I have ever known. I will miss her every day.

“ Mom and I couldn't be there at your service so we're sitting in one of your favorite places. We are remembering you and the chincoteague pony you won. I mean who wins a pony? I love telling people that I know someone who won a Chincoteague Island pony. Family at that. Love and prayers for your family.

“ I have met Julie at STLE local chapter meetings going all the way back to the 1990s. Her warmth always stood out. We've lost a classy woman that has shared her knowledge and insights over these many years. My prayers go out to the family.

“ I am truly sorry to hear of the loss of Julie. She gave me the chance to work together with her and her family at Kimes over 6 years ago and treated me like I had known her forever. I really enjoyed coming in to see her and everyone and sitting around the conference table talking about her business or horses or whatever. She will be missed greatly.

“ We were deeply saddened by the news of Julie's death. We've known Julie for a long time. There were so many meetings and dinners with Julie and her father in Germany. We loved her openness and empathy all the time.
It was a great privilege to know her. Our thoughts and prayers are with Julies family during these difficult times.

“ It is with great sadness that I hear about the passing away of Julie Kimes. I have known her father already and met Julie at least twice in Germany. She was a very sympathetic and reliable business partner. Moreover she had a lot of personal charm and empathy which made it a pleasure to spend business conversations and dinners with her. I often thought of her as a friend to visit the next time in the Pittsburgh area. Julie leaves a gap in our hearts. We will miss her warm and constructive personality.
