“ Beverly, i was thinking yesterday of Lance when he was young! How could we ever forget how mischievous he was? That's how I think of it too! He was so small and he would just leave and go on a walkabout town and we had to go find him. Do you remember the time he crawled onto the roof of the house and we had to hurry up and get him before he fell? He was so laid back though and was not demanding. I liked the easy way he had about him. He loved his family, and he was taken far too soon.

“ My little brother was always so active as a child I remember many times having to go look for Lance. We don't know where he us...he was just so mischievous and wanted to explore thus continued into adulthood with his camping and hiking. Love you brother
