“ We didn't know Pop well, but he was definitely a man who knew how to live life to its fullest. We will always remember the fun weekend we all had up at Lake Michigan, when Pop, Mike, Nick, Rich and Bryce all went fishing. The first day they got stormed out, but then it cleared up enough for them to all go and catch some fish. Then we all got to enjoy swimming in the clear water of the lake. Pop was the first to jump in the water!

Pop always had a wise cracking comment to make everyone laugh and didn't care whether or not you were related, he treated us all like a loved member of the family. Rich is still wishing he had gotten to build a boat with Pop!

In loving celebration of a man who knew how to enjoy life -
